

Estimate my super

This tool helps you estimate how much super guarantee your employer should have paid for you.

Last updated 1 July 2021

On this page

What this tool gives you

Information you need before using the tool

Estimate my super

What this tool gives you

You will need to enter the total period of time you wish to estimate, as well as your ordinary time earnings for each quarter in the total period. You will receive a report listing how much super your employer should have paid for each quarter.

Information you need before using the tool

You will need either your gross salary figure or your wage less any overtime earnings for the period you are trying to obtain a super estimate for. This information should be included on your payslips.

The information you provide is not stored and you will remain anonymous.

If you believe your employer has not been paying enough, you can use our Report unpaid super contributions from my employer tool to let us know.

If you are unsure whether you are entitled to super guarantee contributions, you can use our Am I entitled to super tool to check.

See also:

- Ordinary time earnings
- Am I entitled to super?
- Report unpaid super contributions from my employer tool
- YourSuper comparison tool

QC 50273

Our commitment to you

We are committed to providing you with accurate, consistent and clear information to help you understand your rights and entitlements and meet your obligations.

If you follow our information and it turns out to be incorrect, or it is misleading and you make a mistake as a result, we will take that into account when determining what action, if any, we should take.

Some of the information on this website applies to a specific financial year. This is clearly marked. Make sure you have the information for the right year before making decisions based on that information.

If you feel that our information does not fully cover your circumstances, or you are unsure how it applies to you, contact us or seek professional advice.

Copyright notice

© Australian Taxation Office for the Commonwealth of Australia

You are free to copy, adapt, modify, transmit and distribute this material as you wish (but not in any way that suggests the ATO or the Commonwealth endorses you or any of your services or products).